

NORDIN AGENCY

FALL 2022

NORDIN AGENCY was established in 1990 and is the first independent author agency in Sweden. The ability to create and support strong authorships for over three decades provides the foundation for the dynamic and winning spirit of Nordin. Today nine people bring the best from Scandinavian authors to international publishers and readers. The agency is owned by Joakim Hansson and Anna Frankl.

THIS FALL WE have a range of exciting new projects to present to you. First out is the much anticipated return to Fjällbacka by the queen of crime Camilla Läckberg. In The Cuckoo we meet Erica and Patrik as they tackle gruesome murders happening right now and that happened in the 1980s, soon realizing the threads of the past connects to the present.

ON THE MORE literary side of weaving the past and present together we have author Negar Naseh whose new novel A Handful Wind is a beautifully written story about fight and flight, vulnerability and solidarity. Set in 1978's Tehran, Iran and present time Sweden we get to follow a family through their history and how the past never really leaves you.

ANOTHER EXCITING LITERARY project comes from author and scriptwriter Louise Boije af Gennäs. Her return to the universe she created 25 years ago with her era shaping Stars Without Vertigo takes us to Shooting Star and makes us ask questions like is it always right to follow your heart - even if it will destroy the lives of the people you love?

IN THE MUCH anticipated new novel by literary author Therese Bohman we are brought to the world of publishing with Andromeda. With her trademark depiction of female emancipation we get a story set in Stockholm that is about tradition and modernity, expectations and disappointments, idealism and crass reality.

EXPLODING ONTO THE Swedish noir scene is genre shifting Anna Fredriksson. Her suspense novel Amnesia kicks off with a woman waking up, not remembering anything. And bringing the most current topic to the forefront of the suspense scene is Johanne Hildebrandt and J.F. Sand with their secret agent operations novel Vanishing Act.

FOLLOWING UP PREVIOUS successes in their series are Viveca Sten and Pascal Engman. In the latest Åre Murder, Hidden in Memories, it is the height of the season, Easter, and a woman is found brutally murdered in one of the suites of the luxurious Copper Hill Mountain Lodge. In the new Vanessa Frank novel, X, we experience the dark side of sports as a famous footballer's wife gets murdered and before Vanessa knows it she is chasing the unknown factor, X.

WE ARE VERY proud to welcome to Nordin Agency; John Ajvide Lindqvist, Sara Gordan, David Årlemalm, Robert Karjel, Jessica Schiefauer, Per Anders Fogelström, Elisabeth Åsbrink and Marcus Jarl. They bring a wide range of genres, from creepy novels, humoristic and emotion filled feel-good, to haunting views of Stockholm and parenthood to excellent narrative nonfiction.

LAST BUT NOT least, we are also proud to introduce the authorship of Morten Hessel Dahl globally. This year he was winner of both the Danish Crime Academy's Harald Mogensen prize for Best Danish Crime Novel as well as Scandinavia's most prestigious and joint crime award, The Glass Key, for Best Nordic Crime Novel.

THE FAYE'S REVENGE SERIES

A STORY OF DECEIT, REDEMPTION AND REVENGE

ON THE SURFACE, Faye seems to have it all. A perfect husband, a beautiful daughter and a luxurious apartment. But dark memories from her childhood still haunt her and Faye feels increasingly trapped in her golden cage. The once strong and ambitious woman has given everything up to please her husband, the only man she loves.

WHEN HE BETRAYS her, Faye's entire world falls to pieces. Utterly devastated, she is left with nothing but a burning need for revenge.

THE GOLDEN CAGE is the first, internationally successful, part in Camilla Läckberg's duology about the intoxicating powerhouse Faye Adelheim. It is followed by Wings of Silver, a charged revenge drama where Läckberg once again proves that a woman scorned will take charge of her own fate and fight alongside her fellow sisters to defend what is rightfully theirs.

» "A sexy, sensational novel with intoxicating vengeance and an unexpected tenderness-
The Golden Cage is tensely and skillfully drawn."
KARIN SLAUGHTER

» "The latest Camilla Läckberg is more driven and contemporary [...] The entertainment value is great, the final twist extremely striking."
SYDSVENSKAN

» "Perfectly realistic, breathtaking and feminist, the new novel from the Scandinavian queen of crime is a total success."
MAXI (FRANCE)

» "It's no accident that Camilla Läckberg is one of the most popular writers around the world. Wings of Silver is an adrenaline-filled mix of blood and pleasure, power and intrigue, a hymn to revenge with its roots in reality and all the ingredients that a successful TV-series needs. No faux pas is to be found in these pages: in Läckberg's new novel there is no place for pointless moralisms nor for silly good feelings. With her thriller, Camilla Läckberg updates and declines the Greek tragedy at the time of the #MeToo. And we look forward to the next cruel, delicious revenge."

"In Memory of a Killer is a frightfully suspenseful crime novel, with two very interesting main characters who bring us a thought provoking image of Sweden. While at the same time being one of the most well written crime novels I've ever read."

JOHN HÄGGBLOM, FORUM

TILL MINNE AV EN MÖRDARE IN MEMORY OF A KILLER - NIGHTFALL, BOOK 1

IN THE LONG hot summer of 1994, Sweden is gripped by World Cup fever whilst in mourning following a deadly shooting spree in Falun. In the shadow of Mattias Flink's attack, a woman is found strangled to death in a nearby park. Police resources are spread thin and it almost goes unnoticed when it's discovered that the victim is not the first, nor is she likely to be the last.

IT FALLS TO police officer and newly returned UN Peacekeeper Tomas Wolf to find the allusive murderer. To his aid comes Vera Berg, an ambitious but flawed evening news reporter on the run from her dangerous ex-boyfriend. A botched investigation means their main suspect could slip through their fingers, but Tomas and Vera suspect that the case reaches into all corners of society, where fear and hatred resides.

WITH THE PATHOS and skill of Sjöwall & Wahlöö and the gripping intensity of Harlen Coben, In Memory of a Killer is the first part in a compelling new series by Pascal Engman and Johannes Selåker.

KATARINA BIVALD

KATARINA BIVALD grew up working part-time in a bookstore, dreaming of becoming an author. In 2013, the dream came true when she published her New York Times bestselling debut The Readers of Broken Wheel Recommend.

THE NOVEL WAS an instant success and sold to 29 territories. It was a Richard & Judy Book Club Pick in the UK and won Debut of the Year at the French literary festival, Saint Maure En Poche.

BIVALD HAS SINCE written two more heartwarming novels, Uneasy Rider released in 2015 and Welcome to the Pine Away Motel and Cabins, which came out in 2018. This spring she is back with a new quirky tale in the vein of Richard Osman and the late great Agatha Christie.

MURDERS IN GREAT DIDDLE is the first in Katarina's cosy crime series about colourful Swedish author Berit Gardner who decides to settle in the Cornish village of Great Diddling to cure her writers block.

"Remarkable...unquestionably a page-turner and full of wisdom.
A brave, unusual book, which powerfully portrays friendship and love."

FELICITY HAYES-MCCOY

MORDEN I GREAT DIDDLE MURDERS IN GREAT DIDDLE - BERIT GARDNER, BOOK 1

AN HOMMAGE TO AGATHA CHRISTIE, THE MIDSOMER MURDERS, AND ALL OTHER CHARMING CRIME NOVELS THAT COMBINE ENGLISH PUBS, VILLAGE ORIGINALS, SCONES AND BOOKS WITH SINISTER AND SUDDEN DEATH.

SWEDISH AUTHOR BERIT Gardner has withdrawn to a cottage in Cornwall to try and overcome her writer's block. In a rundown village far from the picturesque coastal cafés and eager tourists she hopes to find some peace and quiet. But things don't quite go as planned when a murder takes place at the first official tea party Berit attends alongside all the odd villagers in Great Diddling.

DCI IAN AHMED at the Devon & Cornwall Police is in charge of the investigation. He is determined to find the perpetrator before any other murders take place. The villagers, on the other hand, want to use the dastardly deed as a way to lure tourists to Great Diddling. Berit soon finds herself caught in both village intrigues and the murder investigation.

» “When I read the first version of Amnesia, I was impressed by how Anna created an ever-present eerie feeling, where the reader immediately understands that something is wrong but not exactly what. Once Klara’s story unfolds, you sit with bated breath and it is impossible to put it down. The result is a thriller for the suspense lover, who delves into human relationships and driving forces such as power, control, love and passion.”

ANNA FREDRIKSSON

ANNA FREDRIKSSON MADE her debut in 2011 with The Summerhouse. The book became a huge hit, selling more than 150 000 copies. It was clear that Anna’s many years as a screenwriter gave her a dramaturgical advantage, which is a rare luxury for authors.

SHE HAS WORKED on several productions – from feature films to TV adaptations such as The Bomber and Wallander. Today though, Anna works exclusively as an author and has established herself as the reigning queen of “Feel Real” with the Every Season Trilogy, set in a cosy coastal town in the South of Sweden. Her books have sold over 700 000 copies so far.

THIS FALL, ANNA Fredriksson is back with a new novel and this time she is writing in the suspense genre! Amnesia is a psychological thriller about identity and life-choices, trust and complicated love.

» “Driven by love and passion, power and control, the story develops into an exciting thriller. The contemporary depictions of time and environment from Stockholm form the background for a plot told in an easily accessible language with very believable characters.”

JOHANNE HILDEBRANDT IS an award-winning war correspondent and author. Her breakthrough came with the bestselling trilogy The Story of Valhalla and horror novel, The Condemned.

IN 2002, SHE was awarded the prestigious journalist award Guldspaden, The Golden Shovel, for her book Blackout – which describes her ten years as a Bosnia war correspondent. And in 2007, she was nominated for The Grand Journalist Prize following her accounts of the war in Iraq.

IN 2012 JOHANNE Hildebrandt was elected a member of The Royal Swedish Academy of War Sciences. She is the first woman in the Academy since it was founded in 1796.

NOW SHE IS back with a nerve-racking thriller, based on a real case within the Swedish secret service. Vanishing Act is co-written by pseudonym J.F Sand, a former secret agent within Sweden's top military organisation, who has extensive real life experience from the world depicted in this page-turning thriller.

"It's a nerve-racking thriller [...] An exciting story about a brave woman's struggle."

BTJ

"The book is suspenseful, the characters well and carefully described."

MARIESTADS-TIDNINGEN

"One of the most current novels I've ever worked on, and based on true events. When Johanne Hildebrandt got to know the real "Alice", she realized the kind of explosive substance there was in this story. Together, they have written a thriller so exciting and rough that you look at life with new eyes. When we started working on it, I was horrified by what is revealed in this novel. And when we finished the book, Russia invaded Ukraine and everything came even closer."

KVINNAN SOM FÖRSVANN VANISHING ACT

"MUA 214 DID not exist. Someone had broken into the military intelligence's secure computer system and created a fake ID number to approve Anna Löwensköld's security clearance. But who, and why?"

WHEN ALICE ROSENGREN at the Security Office's counterintelligence unit uncovers a suspected Russian infiltrator, she suddenly finds herself opposed. Someone exposes her identity and soon she is subjected to a brutal influence campaign aimed at breaking down both her persona and her credibility. In the struggle that follows, the safety of both the nation and Alice's own family are at stake. The question is not when Russia will infiltrate, the question is how much damage they have already caused.

AN ASTONISHING AND claustrophobic thriller, based on a real case within the Swedish secret service.

SKRIFTEN I VATTNET THE WRITING IN THE WATER

Midsummer’s eve 2019

THE TABLE AT the landing pier has been set with the finest china, Business man Olof Helander has international guests and he wants them to get the full Midsummer experience. The table is filled with traditional delicacies. Lots of “snaps” have been drunk, spirits are high and the scene is picture perfect when an open boat pulls up to the pier. Two men, faces masked get on their feet and 30 seconds later the picturesque setting has been switched to a blood bath....

NOT FAR FROM the small island where Helander and his guests are murdered, the crime author Julia Malmros is licking her wounds after a writing projekt has gone south. Her friend Kim Ribbing joins her and they are about to start their own celebration of Midsummer when they hear the shooting. They jump in a boat and are first at the scene.

JULIA AND KIM start their own investigation, aside from the official one conducted by the police. It turns out that Olof Helander had luxurious habits way out of proportion in relation to the revenue of his company, The trail of money leads to topical questions and out on journey from the archipelago of Stockholm, through haunted houses in Shanghai, over Cuban beaches and Norwegian oil rigs. It is a thrilling story in which John Ajvide Lindqvist tries on a new genre without ever compromising with his distinctive care and attention to his characters. The Writing in the Water is the first part in the planned series Bloodstorm and will be followed by The Room in the Ground and The Spirit in the Machine.

JOSEFIN SCHYGGE A SWEDISH LIANE MORIARTY

JOSEFIN SCHYGGE IS a teacher, editor and writer. She was born in 1981 and currently lives in Jönköping with her husband and two children.

FOREVER YOURS IS her debut novel for adults but she has previously published several young adult novels and easy readers.

» “From the very first page I was drawn into a world that Josefin Schygge has created in Forever Yours. She writes about serious topics in an accessible way. There is a flow in her narrative and a drive that makes this book impossible to put down. Just like Lisa Jewel or Liane Moriarty,, Josefin Schygge gives us characters that become the reader’s best friends in an environment so vivid that it feels like you are there. The suspense is quickly established but escalates throughout the story until we get to the nail-bitingly terrifying ending. When I finished the novel I was so moved that I just knew that I had to work with Josefin.”

JOHN HÄGGBLOM, EDITOR, FORUM

» “With short chapters, several narrator perspectives, a language that flows and a suggestive atmosphere that slowly increases, this turns into a thrilling pageturner.”

DISSOLVED – LIAM AND DEA, BOOK 1

IT IS SUMMER and everything is peaceful and idyllic in the Funen village of Tommerup, when Charlotte, a young mother of two small children, is on her way from her morning exercise in the sports centre to her job at the local school. A few minutes later, she disappears without a trace somewhere on the short stretch between the centre and the school.

LATER IN THE day, when Charlotte's husband shows up in a desperate state at the police station in Odense, Chief Superintendent Liam Stark and Superintendent Dea Torp don't initially react to the case, as the woman has only been missing for eight hours. The next morning, Charlotte still hasn't turned up, and it soon becomes clear that a crime may have been committed.

IN THE FOLLOWING days, the case grows to an extent where most of Funen is involved, and people are hiding indoors in fear of becoming the next victim. An intense battle against time unfolds for Liam and Dea, who find themselves trapped in a game where people die a painful death, without the police being able to do anything but watch helplessly.

HOW DO YOU solve such a gruesome crime without victims? How do you track down a maniac whose only goal in life is to be one step ahead? What is it like to know that you are going to die and are waiting for your body to decompose?

» "5-star review: The author's interest in social criticism and the position of women in society is what makes the book something more than just an exciting page-turner. There are many strong, clear and troubled women here, led by Vanessa Frank. She is both tough and brave, but also vulnerable and human. All this allows us to reflect on important problems in today's society in the best Sjöwall and Wahlöö tradition"

"A stable and well-written crime debut where the present is weaved together with the past in a page-turning style. The dramaturgy impresses, so does the drive and exploration of memory, sorrow and survival. We are especially drawn to the beautiful surroundings and appreciate that The High Coast so vibrantly and enticingly is put on the Swedish crime map. DET SISTA LIVET THE BUCKET LIST - JOHN ADDERLEY, BOOK 1

NO 1 ON THE BEST SELLER CHARTS
WINNER OF CRIMETIME DEBUT OF THE YEAR 2020

WHEN SWEDISH-AMERICAN FBI-agent John Adderley wakes up in a hospital bed in Baltimore with extensive gunshot wounds he knows he's lucky to be alive. Just a few beds away is the man who twenty-four hours ago pointed a gun to his head.

TEN YEARS EARLIER in Karlstad, Sweden, Heimer Bjurwall goes searching for his missing teenage daughter Emelie. Since she's the sole heiress to the clothing empire Ackwe, he and his wife Sissela fear she's been kidnapped. When local police find blood and semen on a cliff they arrest a teenage boy from the poorer part of town. He denies the charges and since the body is never found he can't be prosecuted.

WHEN THIS COLD case file is sent to John Adderley ten years later, his curiosity is piqued. John is set to testify in a trial against the drug cartel he infiltrated and has been granted witness protection. Having grown up in Sweden and since he has a special interest in Emelie's disappearance, John demands to be transferred to the Karlstad police to work with their Cold Case Group. At the same time he knows that the drug cartel has a price on his head, the punishment for his betrayal is death.

» "We are extremely honoured to publish Mohlin & Nyström. The American link gives the book international appeal and puts this book miles above other Nordic crime. The writing is pacy, the suspense is big, the denouement even bigger. The Bucket List is craftsmanship."

LISANNE MATHIJSEN, COMMISSIONING EDITOR HARPERCOLLINS HOLLAND

» "I loved The Bucket List and I feel that I've found a new, really original and powerful character in John Adderley!"

ILARIA MARZI, EDITOR, HARPERCOLLINS ITALY

» "A brilliant new crime series from Sweden - I love everything about it, the characters, the set-up, the writing. I am thrilled that we get to publish the amazing Mohlin & Nyström."

HEIDE KLOTH, EDITORIAL DIRECTOR, HARPERCOLLINS GERMANY

» "I am thrilled to be part of The Bucket List adventure, that I am sure we have only seen the beginning of! I love the new take on the nordic noir genre, and to witness FBI agent John Adderley trying to adjust to the culture at a small Swedish police station, gave an entertaining relief to the (at several levels) suspenseful story that unfolds."

ANJA GUSTAVSON, EDITOR, KAGGE FORLAG

» "It's easy to predict John Adderley will become a new hero in suspense literature [...] in a lot of ways breaking new ground within the very classical police novel. Language, story-telling technique, characters, environment, dialogues, cliffhangers, surprising twists, dramatic endings, well everything fits like a glove. The author duo builds the plot skilfully with a high tempo and towards several dramatic resolutions. The forming of the characters is amazing. Never black and white, always multi-faceted and interesting. And of course thrilling, really thrilling, unbearably thrilling."

This and so much more she brings into her new suspense novel A Dangerous Talent. Camilla Sten combines her sharp outlook on the driving forces of humans with a classic whodunnit. The result is a page turner you can not stop reading – a murder mystery that stems from a brutal knife murder on a woman and the frightening reality that lies beneath the surface of the upper class neighbourhood. CAMILLA STEN

CAMILLA STEN HAS been writing stories since she was a young girl and is famously one of the most important sounding boards for her crime-writing mother, Viveca Sten. In 2019, she published the now internationally acclaimed, hair-raising novel, The Lost Village.

THE LOST VILLAGE was one of seven shortlisted for Best translated crime fiction on ThrillZone.nl and was on the Polish Goodreads shortlist for The 2019 Best Book Award in the horror category. In 2022 Camilla was longlisted for the prestigious Viktor Crime Award in Germany.

AN EVER PROLIFIC author, Camilla published her next psychologically intense suspense novel, The Resting Place, in 2020, all while travelling the world finalising a new instalment of her dark and atmospheric YA series.

IN 2022 SHE takes another step in her author career with the crime novel The One That Got Away, the first book in the new series starring criminal psychologist Rebecca Lekman.

EN FARLIG TALANG THE ONE THAT GOT AWAY

CRIMINAL PSYCHOLOGIST REBECCA Lekman has just moved back home to Sweden to take care of her ailing mother. She leaves a very bright career and her wife Maria behind her in the US. Then one night she is abruptly woken up by a phone call from her old colleague Leo who's at a crime scene. Apparently, Rebecca's high school sweetheart, Louise von Ascheberg, has been brutally murdered, stabbed to death in her home.

BACK IN THE upperclass neighbourhood Rebecca has been running from her entire life, and shut out from the investigation, she begins to investigate the murder on her own. The once rebellious teenager, Louise has grown up to become a sophisticated housewife with a luxurious home. But who wanted her dead, and why? And why did Louise try and get in touch with Rebecca mere weeks before the murder – even though she had sworn she never want to see Rebecca again?

AS REBECCA GETS closer to the people in Louise's inner circle, the more intense it gets for her. Eventually she will have to ask herself what risks she is willing to take to find the murderer.

THE ONE THAT Got Away is a fast paced page-turner with a sharp eye that cuts through questions of power, class and identity. Camilla Sten shows off her masterful talent for depicting a closed world where adaptability can be both necessary and life threatening. The One That Got Away is the first part in her new suspense series featuring criminal psychologist Rebecca Lekman.

ARVTAGAREN THE RESTING PLACE

A SPINE-CHILLING, PROPULSIVE PSYCHOLOGICAL SUSPENSE FROM INTERNATIONAL SENSATION CAMILLA STEN

THE MEDICAL TERM is prosopagnosia. The average person calls it face blindness — the inability to recognize a familiar person's face.

WHEN ELEANOR WALKED in on the scene of her capriciously cruel grandmother, Vivianne's, murder, she came face to face with the killer — a maddening expression that means nothing to someone like her. With each passing day, the anxiety of having come so close to a killer — and not knowing if they'd be back — overtakes both her dreams and her waking moments, thwarting her perception of reality.

THEN A LAWYER calls. Vivianne has left her a house — a looming estate tucked away in the Swedish woods. The place where her grandfather died, suddenly. A place that has housed a chilling past for over fifty years.

ELEANOR. HER STEADFAST boyfriend, Sebastian. Her reckless aunt, Veronika. The lawyer. All will go to this house of secrets, looking for answers. But as they get closer to uncovering the truth, they'll wish they had never come to disturb what rests there.

A HEART-THUMPING, relentless thriller that will shake you to your core, The Resting Place is an unforgettable novel of horror and suspense.

ADDICTIVELY GRIPPING AND BRILLIANTLY CHILLING

ONE DAY IN 1959, an entire village of people disappear – leaving behind the broken body of a woman and an abandoned newborn.

NO ONE KNOWS why they vanished. No one's been there since. Until now.

DOCUMENTARY FILMMAKER ALICE Lindstedt has been obsessed with the vanishing residents of the old mining town since she was a little girl. Her grandmother's entire family disappeared in the mysterious tragedy, and ever since, the unanswered questions have plagued her. She's gathered a small crew of filmmaking friends to spend a few days in the abandoned village and make a film about what really happened.

DAGENS NYHETER

TINA FRENNSTEDT

TINA FRENNSTEDT IS one of Sweden's most acclaimed and hard-nosed crime reporters. She has been the news editor at one of Sweden's biggest dailies Svenska Dagbladet and crime reporter at Expressen.

WHEN SHE STARTED writing crime novels Frennstedt wanted to focus on stories that had moved her. Using real-life cold cases as her inspiration this author writes touching and heartfelt suspense with an authentic portrayal of real police work. Her main characters Tess and Marie carry the story with a poignant sensibility and a careful regard to the subject matter.

IN 2019 TINA FRENNSTEDT was awarded with the Crimetime debut of the year award for her novel Cold Case: Missing. It catapulted the author to the top of the charts and had readers clamouring for a follow up. Cold Case: Route 9 was successfully published in March 2020 and the summer of 2021 was the launch of the third anticipated book in the series.

“I have great expectations on Purgatory after the previous books in the series ... and Tina Frennstedt has no problems living up to them. In Purgatory there are lovingly captured environments and there are also realistic portrayals of crimes as well as crime investigations and Frennstedt's special gift of highlighting the consequences of the crime in relation to all involved – victims, perpetrator, relatives and the police. ... This time it feels like Tina Frennstedt raises the stakes as well – the suspense is extra turned and the ambiance, and not at least the signatures the pyromaniac leaves behind, give associations to horror movies.”

MARCUS JARL

“Marcus Jarl has, with a plot that could have been a romance cliché, managed to create psychologically interesting characters who are trying to find their own paths in life as well as come to terms with their fragile family bonds. The depiction is created by sharp and humorous dialogue that catches the characters’ issues, but also their way to insights and personal growth.

The plot is interesting and believable. The varying social environments, the advertising industry’s jargoning between colleagues, Bella’s and Niklas’ class journeys from their childhoods in Linköping to life in the heart of Stockholm and each of their family traumas is beautiful and nuanced in its depiction.”

LOUISE BOIJE AF GENNÄS

LOUISE BOIJE AF GENNÄS is an author and scriptwriter. She made her debut in 1991 with the novel Taking What You Want. Since then she has written a number of critically acclaimed novels. Boije af Gennäs is also the creator of a popular TV-series The Shipping Line and her plays have been produced at Stadsteatern and the Swedish Royal Dramatic Theatre.

In 1996 Louise Boije af Gennäs published the novel Stars Without Vertigo, a novel that has sold over 150 000 copies to date. Partially based on her own experiences, it made a true mark in Swedish literature and has become almost emblematic for the Swedish 90's. To mark the 25th anniversary, Norstedts have published a new edition of Stars Without Vertigo simultaneously as the stand alone sequel Shooting Star, in the end of summer of 2022.

STJÄRNFALL SHOOTING STAR

JULIA AND GABRIEL live a close knit life with their friends Eva and André. Their children have grown up like siblings and they have dinners together, celebrate holidays and are the godparents of each other's kids. Suddenly everything changes: Julia and André realize they have strong feelings for each other and are forced to ask themselves the question if they are willing to sacrifice everything for love.

JULIA SEEKS HELP from her older cousin Sophie, whom the readers got to know in Stars Without Vertigo. Julia now has to decide if she is prepared to do the same thing as Sophie, who twenty five years earlier defied all the norms and conventions to live a life of her own accord.

LOUISE BOIJE AF GENNÄS has once again written a striking novel centered on love. Is it always the romantic love that should have precedence in our lives? Is it always right to follow your heart - even when it means potentially destroying the lives of people you love?

A NOVEL THAT was read and loved by a whole generation - and which is a time capsule of the 90's era that we never stop being fascinated by. After over 150 000 copies sold, and to celebrate this 25th anniversary, Norstedts is publishing a beautiful new hardcover edition of this novel in August 2022.

SOPHIE HAS MANAGED her thirties crisis with flying colors and is living the perfect life with a husband and dogs in a luxury house in Stocksund. She is a successful author, earns a good amount of money and has a standing invite to the dances at Riddarhuset and on the hottest party planners lists. Everything seems to be on track.

AND THEN SUDDENLY Kaja enters her life. Kaja is a radical feminist, lesbian and leftist and all of a sudden there are new conditions for how Sophie is to live her life. Will she dare to take a leap of faith? Will she have the courage to defy all the societal norms in the name of love?

STARS WITHOUT VERTIGO is a novel about what it means to question yourself and the life you are living. It is one of the relationship novels that truly shaped a whole generation through its open language about love and betrayal, about women and women, and women and men.

EDITOR'S PRAISE

"- There are novels which are a product of their time. And then there are novels that shape their time. There are a few novels that shaped the Swedish 90's for the simple reason that they changed the course of the literature that came after them. One of these is Louise Boije af Gennäs' Stars Without Vertigo - a novel that captured an era, challenged conventions and set hearts on fire. Which makes the follow up Louise is writing a huge literary event. When Shooting Star is in a wonderful way a literary time travel - twenty five years back in time and back to our present - and it shows what literature actually can bring about: a world of fiction that we all are a part of and where we can look into the questions that shapes our lives. That is huge."

ANNA, HANNA & JOHANNA

HANNA'S DAUGHTERS

NO 1 INTERNATIONAL
BESTSELLER

RESTLESS AND UNABLE to sleep, Anna picks up a sepia photograph of her grandmother, Hanna, as a young woman. It is like looking in a mirror and Anna sees not the tetchy old woman of family stories but a woman who might love, cry, hate, just as she does. For the first time, Anna sees herself and her mother, Hanna's daughter, not just as family, but also as real people whose lives have rich and complex stories to tell.

SWEEPING THROUGH ONE hundred years of Scandinavian history, this luminous story follows three generations of Swedish women whose lives are linked through a century of great love and great loss.

RESONATING WITH TRUTH and revelation, this moving novel deftly explores the often difficult but enduring ties between mothers and daughters, the sacrifices, compromises, and rewards in the relationships between men and women, and the patterns of emotion that repeat themselves through generations.

IF YOU HAVE ever wanted to connect with the past, or rediscover family, Hanna's Daughters will strike a chord in your heart...

SIMON AND THE OAKS

A MAJOR MOTION PICTURE STARRING
BILL SKARSGÅRD

EVER SINCE CHILDHOOD, Simon Larsson has struggled with inexplicable feelings that something from his past was not quite right. The expansive sea bordering his Swedish homeland fills him with longing - for connection, for freedom. But freedom from what? And why does Simon feel so lonely in the centre of a loving family? His devoted mother, Karin, the backbone of the house, is the person everyone turns to in time of need; Erik, his father, harbours the simple dream of one day owning a boatyard. Yet history forces them to conceal a shattering secret from Simon - one that, if ever revealed, threatens to destroy them all.

AS THE SHADOW of World War II falls across Europe, and Erik is drafted into the fight, Simon forms a friendship with his Jewish classmate, Isak Lentov. It is a relationship that will forever change both their lives, as the Larssons and the Lentovs are irrevocably drawn together to create a makeshift family all their own, striving to endure shame, betrayal, war, even madness. But no one will remain untouched... or unchanged.

THE SEARCH FOR who we are and where we came from; the yearning for reconciliation between parent and child; the ever-shifting nature of what makes a family; the realisation that truth can be found in what is unspoken - Marianne Fredriksson weaves these elements into a powerful story of survival and transcendence, sacrifice and forgiveness - showing how even the most damaged heart can heal in the most unexpected ways.

NEGAR NASEH

NEGAR NASEH (b. 1984) made her debut as an author in 2013 with the novel During All This Winter. During All This Winter is partly a novel about a complicated mother-daughter relationship with the Westrobothnian forests as backdrop, but it also consists of a work journal about the writing process: a way of inviting the reader to a conversation about reading and writing. The book was praised by critics and nominated for the Borås Tidning's Debutant Prize 2014.

NEGAR NASEH'S SECOND novel The Displaced was published 2016 and is a psychological drama about today's Europe. A Swedish couple living in Sicily are struggling with everyday problems while the migrant crisis is going on in the background. The cold in Westrobothnia is replaced with Sicily's broiling heat. With a severe and restrained language Naseh is exploring the middle class' indifference and is creating the notion "white melancholy", the white person's feeling when the injustices of the world are pushing forward.

HER LATEST BOOK A Handful of Wind is a novel about fight and flight, about vulnerability and solidarity.

NEGAR NASEH LIVES in Uppsala and she also works as a doctor.

"Negar Naseh's novel 'A Handful of Wind' is a grandiose exile novel, filled with love for the Persian language and the Iranian culture landscape."

JOHN AJVIDE LINDQVIST

JOHN AJVIDE LINDQVIST has something that nearly all of us lack: an almost limitless imagination paired with a beautiful and compelling narrative. He can make you laugh in the middle of the darkness and he creates new worlds. There is something special in his prose that allows him to take you by the hand and lead you into the unknown.

FOR THE PAST twenty years he has written novels, theatre- and screenplays. His novels have reached readers in over 25 territories and he has received numerous awards such as The Selma Lagerlöf Literary Prize, the GP Literary Award and Best Novel in Translation (Norway). He has been shortlisted for the August Prize and the Swedish National Radio Literature Prize.

» "Ajvide Lindqvist does not stop at dismantling shallow and overpaid role models and their neurotic productions companies – although he does it very well, at times hilarious but mostly with an anguished precision – he is after all a brilliant horror-author. In this unusually short novel (157 pages) he manages to twist our understanding of reality time and time again."
DAGENS NYHETER

VERKLIGHETEN REALITY

THE MATRIX MEETS THE TRUMAN SHOW IN THIS PITCH-BLACK, YET HUMOROUS NARRATION OF A REALITY SHOW GONE WRONG.

IN HIS UNIQUE style, Ajvide Lindqvist depicts everyday situations and gives them an uneasy twist, and now he takes on a familiar concept many of us follow on a daily basis: the reality TV show. But of course, this is a horror version of it.

HEIDI HALLBERG IS the star of "At home with Hallberg's", the popular reality show following Heidi's everyday life, as well as her husband, two children and stepdaughter. Constantly followed by a camera, she witnesses the strange disappearance of a fly on a windowsill, not knowing that it will lead to her questioning the reality of her own life. Soon things escalate and the same day Heidi's hand mysteriously goes straight through a solid door while the stairs seem to change height. Heidi is forced to confront what is true or false, and even starts questioning whether her children and husband are real. Ultimately, she is forced to accept that her "reality" could potentially be simulated.

A PITCH-BLACK, yet humorous, story that deals with our contemporary version of reality while questioning what it actually does to a person, and a family, to be acting life rather than living it.

SARA GORDAN

SARA GORDAN IS an author, a teacher at the acclaimed writer's program at Biskops Arnö, as well as a translator from French, having translated works by Hélène Cixous, Michel Houellebecq and Laurent Binet, among others.

GORDAN MADE HER literary debut in 2006 and lives in Stockholm with her husband and three children.

"Gordan writes with a singular, at times colloquial precision that keeps the ancient struggle between generations both distinct and current."

DN

"Gordan has written a touching novel that is foremost about the hardest challenge of love: to let go. [...] In some ways, your whole life is a practice of that art. Gordan depicts this with a sincerity that goes straight to your heart. It is a novel that everyone who ever felt the almost excruciating heat of love run through their chest will be able to identify with."

SVD

"All I know is that spring has barely begun, and I think I have already read one of the best Swedish novels published this year."

EXPRESSEN

NATTEN THE NIGHT

A DAUGHTER IS missing, a mother is searching. Walking the same streets up and down, back and forth, dialling numbers, digging deep in her mind for names of friends that might know something, anything. A night that seems never ending, a dawn that refuses to come. What happens when a child becomes a teenager and no longer accepts their mother's care? What is a parent without parenting?

THE NIGHT IS a complicated love story between mother and daughter, a thorny road between Stockholm and Paris, leading up to a reunion on the beaches of Barcelona.

SARA GORDAN'S FIRST novel in nine years is written in gleaming prose leaving the reader shuddering in tears. It is a naked and honest depiction of motherhood, and the curse of never giving up on your children. It is a book for everyone that is, or for that matter has, a parent.

THERESE BOHMAN

» "The Swedish flaneur novel reached its peak at the beginning of the last century. I would like to claim that Therese Bohman has re-established this literary genre within Swedish literature. Her razor-sharp portraits - often of younger intellectual women - together with precise and few-word descriptions of the environment make the books appear minimalistic. They are not. In her novels, worlds are opened up within the characters as much as the plot steadily and unceasingly moves towards the inevitable end. When you put the book down, you know that this is exactly how it had to be; this was how it had to end. And then you long for her next novel."

THERESE BOHMAN

THERESE BOHMAN GREW up outside of Norrköping but lives in Stockholm. She is an arts journalist and regularly contributes to national newspaper Expressen and periodical Tidningen Vi.

BOHMAN'S 2010 DEBUT novel Drowned received critical acclaim, both in Sweden and internationally and was even selected as an Oprah Winfrey Summer Read. Her second novel The Other Woman, published in 2014, was shortlisted for the Nordic Council Prize and Swedish Radio's Fiction Prize, while her third novel Eventide, published in 2016, was shortlisted for Sweden's most prestigious literary award, the August Prize.

HER LATEST NOVEL Andromeda, published in August 2022, takes place at a publishing house in Stockholm where we follow the complex relationship between the intern Sofie and the literary director Gunnar.

"Heartfelt, touching - and slightly provocative!"

FEMINA

"It is fascinating how a novel with such a driven and well-oiled language, where the pages turn themselves, can simultaneously contain so many depths."

FOKUS

ANDROMEDA ANDROMEDA

THE PUBLISHING HOUSE is anchored like a ship along Stockholm's main street Kungsgatan, a large bright building topped with a rooftop terrace. The facade is a grid of wood and granite, flags with a cursive R sway in the wind. R as in Rydén.

A YOUNG WOMAN starts as an intern at the famous publishing house, but stays for many years and gains more and more responsibility for the authors and publications. Everything under supervision of Gunnar, publishing director of the most prestigious imprint behind the finest literature, Andromeda.

AS THE YEARS go by their work relationship transforms into something neither of them can truly define. Perhaps built on mutual trust? Or is it something else?

THERESE BOHMAN'S NEW novel takes place in Stockholm and grows into a story about tradition and modernity, expectations and disappointments, idealism and crass reality.

LAURA RINGO

LAURA RINGO, BORN 1990 at Falster, Denmark. Debuted as an author with the young adult novel The Cremasteric Reflex in 2017. 2019 followed the youth novel Paper Wedding, for which she was awarded the Blixen Prize 2019 in the category 'The Young Adult Novel of the Year'. Paper Wedding was also nominated for Politiken's Literary Prize 2019.

IN 2020 LAURA Ringo's first novel for adults, Fertile, was published. In September 2021 came her latest novel, Little Hints.

GRUNDTVIG ER DØD LITTLE HINTS

IN THE SPRING of 2019 Petra returns as a teacher at the folk high school Nyord. It has been ten years since she herself studied at the school's creative writing program. Her then teacher, Frank Storm Kristensen, a well renowned author, encouraged his students to be wild and brave when they wrote. He smoked a pipe during lessons and was lousy at handling the copier.

BACK THEN PETRA thought he was a strict teacher who asked annoying questions although pretty fuckable. When she returns as one of the new writing teachers Frank has become headmaster. He has abolished the folk high school song at Nyord and declared Grundtvig (one of Denmark's greatest psalm poets) dead. But he is still just as fuckable as ever.

ALTHOUGH PETRA WOULD much rather be an author she has lost her writing spirit after her first book. It's a mess. It's also a bit of a mess that the latest big poet star Frej Thorvaldsen has been hired by the folk high school, because he can write easily – and win prizes.

LAURA RINGO'S NOVEL Little Hints is a black comedy about power, desire and unfulfilled ambitions in a folk high school bubble far away from reality.

VERONIKA MALMGREN

» “Gracie is not only a portrayal of the longing for freedom, but also a story about friendship. I like that Malmgren takes female friendship as seriously as it deserves. She also writes beautiful prose, that dreamlike style that is so difficult to achieve without becoming awkward or sentimental - sometimes reminiscent of a Sara Stridsberg, but in a sunny mood and minus death”

EXPRESSEN

GRACIE GRACIE

VERONIKA MALMGREN'S DEBUT novel is a book about friendship. About meeting and parting and about briefly sharing everyday life together. It is a book about belonging and departure. About being the one left behind.

KLARA IS ALMOST ready to go home to Sweden after a year as an exchange student in the smalltown of Manning, Kansas. The place is surrounded by endless fields of wheat, corn and sunflowers in every direction, and sleepy little towns are scattered all along the motorway that stretches into the distance.

KLARA'S FRIEND PENELOPE owns a sand-coloured Delta 88 Cabriolet. The car is called Gracie and is the girls' only chance of getting anywhere. During sweltering hot evenings they put the roof down and drive through the fields.

PER HAGMAN

THE VAGABOND AND bonvivant Per Hagman has oftentimes been referred to as “the world's oldest teenager”. He spent his childhood in various places all over the world, such as small Swedish towns and big cities in Africa. Thus turning him into a true cosmopolitan and social chameleon. After having spent 30 years on the move, he now resides in Stockholm.

HAGMAN'S READERS ARE as devoted to him as fans are to a popstar. Ever since Per Hagman made his literary debut in 1991 with the cult classic Cigarette, readers have been as obsessed with the characters in Hagman's novels as with the author himself.

CIGARETTE

CIGARETTE TAKES PLACE in the early summer of 1989 in Stockholm and follows the adventures of Johan, a young waiter who works at Hard Rock Cafe, at the time the coolest restaurant in Stockholm. All described with a smart sense of humour, mixed with that Hagmanesque kind of that bittersweet, and sentimental, summertime sadness.

WHEN CIGARETTE WAS published it hit the Swedish literature scene right in the solar plexus and has since then inspired and influenced generations of young people and authors.

IT'S A STORY about Johan, a young Swedish man in his 20s, who for some reason has settled down in Nice. It's a place for retired millionaires and movie stars who have passed their expiration date. He moves in with the old actress Celeste, who lives with her husband in a luxurious villa outside of town. Parallely Johan is reminiscing about his first big love in the Swedish small town where he grew up.

PER HAGMAN GIVES a tender portrayal of an eccentric set of characters who are all fighting their inner demons and the Big Blue. Hagman brings up themes such as desire, love and submission. A Bonjour Tristesse of the 90s, written in an effortlessly flawless style.

IN 2020 POOL was adapted into a movie starring the award-winning actress Natacha Guyon.

ÅSA ERICSDOTTER

ÅSA ERICSDOTTER WAS born 1981 in Uppsala. She made her literary debut as a 17-year-old, with the strong prose lyric novel Innocent, a story about love, passion and pain that immediately gave her a role as one of Sweden's most interesting young authors. At the August Prize gala in the fall of 1998 she received a mention of honour.

SHE CURRENTLY LIVES on Peaks Island, Maine, on the American east coast, together with her family. Her novel The Epidemic received rave reviews in both Sweden and France.

PHASE 3 IS her latest novel, an original suspense novel about a medical experiment going awry.

“There is a lot to be impressed by; the knowledge of brain research that creates credibility, the many touching love stories with rich and alive character galleries without any particular main character, it's more like a novel about the collective, and a combination of creativity and linguistic ability of an exceptionally high standard.”

ANDERS KAPP, SWEDISH CRIME ACADEMY

EPIDEMIN THE EPIDEMIC

IT'S ELECTION YEAR in Sweden and the rising political star, Johan Svärd, has assumed power after a historic victory. The electoral pledge of the new Health Party: to eradicate the obesity epidemic.

MEANWHILE, POSTDOC WAR-HISTORY student Landon is seeking refuge from political propaganda in the countryside. There he meets a neighbour, Helena, an overweight nurse who has lost her job due to the government's new rules on employment and is now hiding with her daughter.

WHAT IS ACTUALLY happening at the Health Party's fat camps? When Helena suddenly disappears, Landon sets off to search for her. The quest turns into a scary journey through the ever-harsher Swedish social climate, where everything from the weight of the employees to the intake of carbohydrates is strictly controlled. Landon soon becomes aware of the threat that surrounds him, as the methods of the Health Party become more and more spine-chilling.

THE EPIDEMIC IS a dark depiction of a future not far over the horizon where hysteria about diets and political propaganda have turned discrimination into the norm.

LONDONFLICKAN THE LONDON GIRL

IT'S THE 1950'S. Greta has left her mother Hilda and the old cotton factory in Vasa for a better life in Stockholm. She shares a room with her best friend Aili and works as a nanny and a hospital orderly before her dreams take her even further away: to London.

SHE FINDS WORK with the Conley family, socialises with the nannies from Switzerland, learns English and meets Elizabeth Taylor and Frank Sinatra. The cotton factory and textile industry seem far away.

HILDA HAS STAYED back home in Vasa, she is still a cotton angel in an industry that is increasingly threatened by automatization and competition from Sweden and other foreign countries. Greta's brother Jonnis is still at Algots in Borås and falls in love with Maija at the New in Sweden class. Little does Greta know how the future will take shape and what consequences will come from leaving your hometown.

WITH THE LONDON GIRL Susanna Alakoski continues her suite of novels about women's lives, their work and aspirations during the 20th century. This is a story about industry, love and friendship where everyday lives and world politics are threads in the same weave.

VERA VERA

THE BRIEFEST OF love stories can sometimes have the most far reaching of consequences. Using an assumed identity, young Sandrine comes from the darkness of war into a sun-drenched early summer in Sweden. The year is 1945. Her only luggage is an unwanted, unborn baby, and a secret she's prepared to do anything to keep.

SEVEN MONTHS LATER she is getting married on an island far out in the archipelago.

BY SAYING YES to the much older Ivan, Sandrine marries into a strange world: the great bourgeois Ceder family. During the wedding night, a dangerous blizzard enters the archipelago and the whole party is trapped on the island. It is as if this night foretells how the rest of the marriage will develop – an ice cold misalliance built on secrets, lies and fears.

VERA IS ANNE SWÄRD'S fourth novel, about flight and survival, about mothers and daughters; about guilt and love that carry on for generations.

OCEANEN THE OCEAN

IN THE FALL of 1765 Jean-Jacques Rousseau spends 45 days at Île Saint-Pierre, an island in the republic Bern. Works such as Julie; or The New Heloise, The Social Contract, or Principles of Political Right and Emile, or On Education have in just a few years made the philosopher one of the most spoken of persons in Europe. Not least does the enlightened arguments about religion in Emile, or On Education, raise offense and he is hunted, first from France, thereafter Schweiz, accused of being an apostate.

STEVE SEM-SANDBERG'S The Ocean is a strong and gripping novel about an uncompromising solitaire whose only refuge he can possibly see lies in the plants that he collects on the island. But soon the philosopher can't flee any longer. At night come the irreconcilable dreams, and actions from the past he has long chosen to not acknowledge barge in, just like the water rising around the island.

English Summary

"I have just finished this: fiction of true moral force, brilliantly sustained and achieved. It helps us to do what is so hard; simply to think about the Holocaust. Normally, the mind shears away in horror after some exposure to the accumulation of gruelling detail and to the ungraspable weight of the statistics. What is so difficult is to focus our imagination, our empathy, and Sem-Sandberg provides a way for us to do that, guiding the reader through the mass of information to the human heart of these appalling events. I think that fiction here is operating at its best, to close the gap between past and present, between them and us: not through sentiment, but through real understanding."

HILARY MANTEL

"The Chosen Ones is nothing less than a literary feat – as powerful and inexorable as The Emperor of Lies. Sem-Sandberg has in one fell swoop become one of Europe's most important authors. This has happened! We cannot forget!"

KRISTOFER AHLSTRÖM

KRISTOFER AHLSTRÖM IS an author and journalist, working at one of Sweden's leading newspapers, Dagens Nyheter.

HE DEBUTED IN 2012 with Someone to Punish, for which he was shortlisted for the prestigious Borås Tidnings debutant award. His second novel A Life Less was published in 2014 and received overwhelming reviews.

THE HEART IS BUT A MUSCLE is his third novel, published in Sweden in September 2017. It depicts a passionate but dangerously destructive relationship.

» "Kristofer Ahlström is a divinely gifted author. [...] Imperceptibly, pleasure is exchanged for unease. Jealousy, distrust and impotence work their way into the relationship, not only between Elisabeth and Isak, but between reader and narrator. Who is really telling the story, and who is to be trusted?"

ULRIKA KNUTSON, EXPRESSEN

» "Elisabeth's pain, exposure and anxiety are so palpable it pains me too. It's like walking on small, fragile pieces of glass because there's nowhere else to walk."

JENNY HÖGSTRÖM, DAGENS NYHETER

HJÄRTAT ÄR BARA EN MUSKEL THE HEART IS BUT A MUSCLE

EXTREMELY WELL WRITTEN AND COMPOSED

IT STARTS WITH a car accident. Elisabeth survives but Isak doesn't. In reality our story begins far earlier. With a tragedy that causes Elisabeth to leave her beloved Gotland, the place where she belongs but can never return to. Elisabeth moves to Stockholm, to forget and to hide. The loneliness seems too hard to bear. Then one day, she sees Isak and he becomes her chosen one.

AS SHE LIES in the hospital after his death, she tries to piece together her fragmented memories. What does she really know about Isak? Bit by bit their story is unveiled; a story about great passion, love's ownership, fear and jealousy. Of what happened on that fateful night.

CLASS DIFFERENCES, GROWING jealousy and disturbing secrets combine in this exquisitely written literary novel.

CLARA TÖRNVALL

CLARA TÖRNVALL HAS been an active culture journalist and producer since the early 2000s. She has produced a number of programs for Swedish Radio and TV as well as written articles and chronicles for dailies and the monthly press. She is a recurring chronelisy for Aftonbladet, Svenska Dagbladet as well as the magazine Fokus and has edited several commercial TV-shows and taken part in a number of anthologies. In 2017 her documentary film about the art collector Theodor Ahrenberg, The Art Collector and the Tragedy, debuted on Swedish Television.

AT THE AGE of 42 Törnvall underwent an autism examination that diagnosed her with high functioning autism. This led her to write the book The Autists - Women on the Spectrum, that she felt filled a void since the diagnosis is normally portrayed in children and in men but that it looks different for women.

AUTISTERNA - OM KVINNOR PÅ SPEKTRAT THE AUTISTS – WOMEN ON THE SPECTRUM

WHY DID THE POET EMILY DICKINSON WRITE POEMS ABOUT THE SEA WITHOUT EVER HAVING SEEN IT? WHY IS WONDERLAND SO STRANGE TO ALICE? WHY DOES MOVIE STAR DARYL HANNA SO OFTEN PLAY A ROBOT OR A MERMAID? WHAT DOES THE PHILOSOPHER SIMONE WEIL MEAN WITH “TO LOVE ONESELF AS A STRANGER”? AND WHY DO THE TV-VIEWERS THINK THAT GRETA THUNBERG IS JOKING?

THE AUTISTS - Women on the Spectrum is a personal essay about women with high-functioning autism. The book studies how the autistic woman has been positioned in culture, myths and reality. Who is she, who has she been, and why has she been invisible for so long?

THE ADULT AUTISTIC woman is a person that we do not yet know. Up until the 1980s, autism was regarded as a condition reserved for boys. In movies and TV-shows, the talented and socially awkward woman is still portrayed as a copy of the manly nerd, with the same interest in computer games, the Rubik's Cube, and train timetables.

AND YET, THESE women exist, and always have existed, in all social classes and cultures. With her own autism evaluation as a framework, Clara Törnvall takes a journey back in time and sees her own and others' history through new eyes.

THE AUTISTS IS set in the reception rooms at the neuropsychiatry in Stockholm; in cultural history and at the kitchen table in the homes of ordinary autistic women. It's an eye-opening book that questions our view of normality and deviation, and a group of women who've been invisible in society up until now.

KONSTEN ATT LÄSA TANKAR

THE ART OF READING MINDS

– HOW TO UNDERSTAND AND INFLUENCE OTHERS WITHOUT THEM NOTICING

THE INTERNATIONALLY BESTSELLING GUIDE TO
"MIND-READING" BY INFLUENCING THOSE AROUND YOU
VIA NON-VERBAL COMMUNICATION, FROM HUMAN PSYCHOLOGY EXPERT HENRIK FEXEUS.

HOW WOULD YOU like to know what the people around you are thinking? Do you want to network like a pro, persuade your boss to give you that promotion, and finally become the life of every party? Now, with Henrik Fexeus's expertise, you can.

THE ART OF Reading Minds teaches you everything you need to know in order to become an expert at mind-reading. Using psychology-based skills such as non-verbal communication, reading body language, and using psychological influence, Fexeus explains how readers can find out what another person thinks and feels– and consequently control that person's thoughts and beliefs. Short, snappy chapters cover subjects such as contradictory signs and what they mean, how people flirt without even knowing it, benevolent methods of suggestion and undetectable influence, how to plant and trigger emotional states, and how to perform impressive mind-reading party tricks.

FEXEUS GIVES READERS practical (and often fun) examples of how to effectively mind-read others and use this information, benevolently, both in personal and professional settings.

THE ART OF SOCIAL EXCELLENCE

– HOW TO MAKE YOUR PERSONAL AND BUSINESS RELATIONSHIPS THRIVE

IN THIS FOLLOW-UP TO THE ART OF READING MINDS, HENRIK FEXEUS USES HIS EXPERT
PSYCHOLOGY KNOWLEDGE TO TEACH THE READER
HOW TO HONE THEIR SOCIAL SKILLS, PERFECT FOR FANS OF DALE CARNEGIE.

RESEARCH HAS INCREASINGLY shown that nonverbal communication prowess is absolutely essential in seemingly unrelated areas of our lives (investment decisions, salary levels, etc.) However, as our society becomes more modernized and we incorporate new forms of technology into our daily interactions, we are becoming less and less capable of understanding one another as we should.

IN THE ART of Social Excellence, Henrik Fexeus combines his own expert knowledge as a mentalist with psychology studies to create a complete guide to social interaction. He covers it all: from overcoming your conversational fears in a large group of people, to excelling in the workplace, to winning an argument with your partner. He breaks down various rhetorical strategies in detail, and provides helpful steps and checklists for the reader to check their progress in a social encounter.

ANYONE WHO HAS ever felt awkward or misunderstood in social situations will benefit from reading this book, and with proper implementation of Fexeus's principles, can achieve superior social skills.

MITT STORA VACKRA HAT MY BIG BEAUTIFUL HATRED A BIOGRAPHY OF VICTORIA BENEDICTSSON

Are women females or humans? Are men masters or slaves? Is marriage a business arrangement, an act of love, or a prison sentence? Should Christian morality or reason prevail?

The questions formulated during the second half of the 19th century set Europe ablaze, and it was authors and intellectuals in the Nordic countries who ignited the fuse. At the center was the Danish literary critic Georg Brandes, joined by Henrik Ibsen, August Strindberg, Elisabeth Grundtvig, and Anne-Charlotte Leffler, to name a few.

Victoria Benedictsson emerged like a shooting star in the sky of literary realism. The postmaster's wife from a peripheral Swedish village made her literary debut at age 33, charging straight into the center of the action under the pen name Ernst Ahlgren. She befriended (or antagonized) all of the era's key players and her books took on the hottest issues of contemporary debate.

In her new biography, Elisabeth Åsbrink has carefully retraced Victoria Benedictsson's steps. From the farm on Söderslätt, over the claustrophobic marital home in the postmaster's residence in Hörby, to the room at Hotel Leopold in Copenhagen where she ended her life, only thirty-eight years old. Åsbrink has charted the background of Benedictsson's personal drama in a turbulent time in history; she has read letters, diaries, short stories, and novels in order to shed light on the inner landscape of a prodigious figure and a period in which the Nordic countries went from being governed by Christianity to embracing modernity and science.

This is a biography of a thinking woman who tried to shatter the constraints of gender and ended her life in a crescendo of emotions, in a time obsessed with literature, sex, and death.

I WIENERWALD STÅR TRÄDEN KVAR AND IN THE VIENNA WOODS THE TREES REMAIN

WINNER OF THE August Prize for best non-fiction 2011, the story of the complicated long-distance relationship between a Jewish child and his forlorn Viennese parents after he was sent to Sweden in 1939, and the unexpected friendship the boy developed with the future founder of IKEA, Ingvar Kamprad.

OTTO ULLMANN, A Jewish boy, was sent from Austria to Sweden right before the outbreak of World War II. Despite the huge Swedish resistance to Jewish refugees, thirteen-year-old Otto was granted permission to enter the country—all in accordance with the Swedish archbishop's secret plan to save Jews on condition that they convert to Christianity. Otto found work at the Kamprad family's farm in the province of Småland and there became close friends with Ingvar Kamprad, who would grow up to be the founder of IKEA. At the same time, however, Ingvar was actively engaged in Nazi organizations and a great supporter of the fascist Per Engdahl. Meanwhile, Otto's parents remained trapped in Vienna, and the last letters he received were sent from Theresienstadt.

WITH THOROUGH RESEARCH, including personal files initiated by the predecessor to today's Swedish Security Service (SÄPO) and more than 500 letters, Elisabeth Åsbrink illustrates how Swedish society was infused with anti-Semitism, and how families are shattered by war and asylum politics.

1947. HÄR BÖRJAR NU 1947. WHEN NOW BEGINS

An award-winning writer captures a year that defined the modern world, intertwining historical events around the globe with key moments from her personal history.

The year 1947 marks a turning point in the twentieth century. Peace with Germany becomes a tool to fortify the West against the threats of the Cold War. The CIA is created, Israel is about to be born, Simone de Beauvoir experiences the love of her life, an ill George Orwell is writing his last book, and Christian Dior creates the hyper-feminine New Look as women are forced out of jobs and back into the home.

In the midst of it all, a ten-year-old Hungarian-Jewish boy resides in a refugee camp for children of parents murdered by the Nazis. This year he has to make the decision of a lifetime, one that will determine his own fate and that of his daughter yet to be born, Elisabeth.

ULF DANIELSSON

ULF DANIELSSON IS a professor of theoretical physics at Uppsala University and lectures around the world on the history and future of the universe, on black holes, dark matter and dark energy. Existential science at its best.

DANIELSSON IS THE author of a number of successful popular science books, for which he has received the Disapriset and the Siri Prize. Danielsson is a regular guest on TV and radio programs and formed part of the repertoire at the Royal Dramatic Theater 2018, where he presented a cosmic overview of the universe's history and dark energy. Danielsson has been a member of the Royal Swedish Academy of Sciences since 2009 and presented the Nobel Prize in Physics in 2020.

» "The World Itself is destined to become a modern classic as it upends many of the received wisdoms about the natural scientific worldview. Danielsson shows that a rigorous materialism does not reduce everything to mechanism, but instead opens us to a deeper understanding of existential experience and the dynamic nature of life itself. His lucid, powerful, passionate, and engaging work has reached a very large audience, while advancing original arguments of great importance."

MARTIN HÄGGLUND, AUTHOR OF THIS LIFE

VÄRLDEN SJÄLV THE WORLD ITSELF: CONSCIOUSNESS AND THE EVERYTHING OF PHYSICS

CAN PHYSICS ALONE EXPLAIN THE HUMAN EXPERIENCE OF THE WORLD?

THERE IS A wonderfully weird but real world out there, and we are a part of it. It is time for physics to take life seriously.

CAN WE EVER truly comprehend the universe before we fully understand consciousness and the wonders, and limits, of the mind? Ulf Danielsson, an acclaimed theoretical physicist who has dedicated his career to probing the deepest mysteries of nature, thinks not. As he dismantles the arguments of esteemed mathematicians and scientists, who would substitute their mathematical models for reality and equate the mind to a computer, he makes a lucid and passionate case that it is nature, full of beauty and meaning, which must compel us. In challenging established worldviews, he also takes a fresh look at major philosophical debates, including the notion of free will.

FEARLESS, PROVOCATIVE, AND witty, The World Itself is essential reading for anyone curious about the profound questions surrounding life, the universe, and everything.

MÖRKRET VID TIDENS ÄNDE DARKNESS AT THE END OF TIME

THE CLOUD COVERING the dark and unknown side of our universe is slowly beginning to clear. The missing piece of the puzzle of particle physics has been found through the discovery of the Higgs particle and it is time to take the next step. With the help of string theory, a picture is painted of a world infinitely larger than we previously thought. Our universe is perhaps just a small part of an incomprehensibly magnificent multiverse that we have only just begun to imagine the extent of.

IN THE BOOK, we begin to explore the dark matter and the dark energy that physicists still know very little about. We consider the dark ages before the Big Bang, get a glimpse of what happened when our universe was created and follow the story further into a distant and threatening future.

UPDATED IN 2020, to include the latest discoveries of gravitational waves from colliding black holes, Darkness at the End of Time takes you to the absolute forefront of research.

ULF DANIELSSON DESCRIBES the most wonderful science with his characteristic, poetic prose. When you read it, you will never look at the starry sky in the same way again.

FATIMA BREMMER

FATIMA BREMMER IS a journalist and author who has worked as a reporter and editor-in-chief at some of the major newspapers in Sweden.

IN 2017 SHE was awarded the August Prize for her book Life in Every Breath, the biography of a norm-breaking heroine called Ester Blenda Norström. A daring adventurer who travelled the world and pioneered investigative journalism in the beginning of the 20th century.

SINCE THE DEBUT of her book Bremmer has been travelling the country to speak about the curious life of Ester Blenda Nordström. She has also been busy curating an Ester Blenda Nordström exhibition that was started after the success of Life in Every Breath.

THE AUTHOR IS currently working on a new biography about an infamous league of women who dared to challenge the rules of their time to win freedom for women for generations to come.

DE SISTA TANTERNA GENERATION HOUSEWIFE

THE OLDER GENERATION of housewives have long been invisible. They have toiled in silence. They are the ones who stayed at home in stained aprons, rolling meatballs for the children who became the women and men who now govern Sweden. They sewed their clothes, bathed them and taught them right from wrong. They made each penny stretch and kept food in their children's bellies. These Swedish ladies were born in the decades between 1910-1930 and belong to the generation who never had its own youth culture.

THEIR GLORY DAYS began right after the Second World War. The streets were filled with Volvo VPs and Volkswagen Beetles. Men and women live separate lives and if there's room for a hobby, it's of a more practical kind.

IN GENERATION HOUSEWIFE, Fatima Bremmer and Magnus Wennman step into the old ladies' world. They follow Ebba, 85, to her sewing-circle, Maj-Britt 82, to salon Fleur, where she has her hair done every week. They ask questions and listen as the ladies describe the common housewife ideal and family politics. It tells the story of how the characteristic decorations, hairstyles, fashions and hobbies came to be and looks forward to the new modern housewife trends and old lady-inspired fashions.

A PORTRAIT OF THE 20TH CENTURY HEROINES

NORDIN AGENCY
FATIMA BREMMER

ETT JÄVLA SOLSKEN LIFE IN EVERY BREATH A BIOGRAPHY OF ESTER BLENDA NORDSTRÖM

ESTER BLENDA NORDSTRÖM was around 20 when she made history for the first time. Growing up she was an unruly tomboy sent from home to learn how to become a good little girl. But this rich industry magnate's daughter would never let herself be tamed.

AS SWEDEN'S FIRST ever investigative journalist, Ester Blenda Nordström did what no one else dared to do. Under an assumed identity she toiled as a maid on a farm, lived for six months with the Sami in Lapland, and travelled as a third class passenger together with poor emigrants to try the American dream. She saved entire villages from starvation during the Finnish civil war and partook in a several year long expedition to dangerous volcanic territories in Siberia. The groundbreaking reports that she brought home from her journeys would change journalism forever.

PRAISED, ADMIRE AND friends with Sweden's cultural elite, Ester Blenda defied every norm that constricted women's lives in the early 20th century. Then suddenly, her powerful voice was silenced. Her spectacular adventures and the struggle for a life on her own terms proved too costly.

FATIMA BREMMER TELLS the poignant story of what finally caused Sweden's bravest journalist to lose her nerve. Using previously unknown correspondence and journals, she portrays one of the most fascinating women of the 20th century.

SIGGE EKLUND

SIGGE EKLUND IS one of Sweden's most well known writers and podcasters. His debut Synanthrope – A Love Story was a critical and commercial success, and he has since published four other novels.

IN 2005, HIS portrait of an absent father, It Is 1988 And It Has Just Started Snowing, stayed on the Swedish bestseller charts for six months. Two years later he repeated the success with Waltz of the Werewolf, a dark, gripping story of a family broken down by one person's substance abuse. Into the Labyrinth was Eklund's first foray into suspense. It debuted in 2014 and is sold to 15 territories.

CRITICALLY ACCLAIMED FOR his honest and poetic prose Sigge Eklund is back with a new thought-provoking novel. In Life's Little Pleasures we exhale with Eklund as he describes poignant memories and the way they make us feel.

"At times it evokes the same kind of tenderness in me as Karl Ove Knausgård's Seasons Quartet. ... Small sensual moments that [...] remind you of the awe-inspiring in everyday life."

SVD

"With precision Sigge Eklund precisely catches those small details that can make a moment quiver."

LIVETS SMÅ NJUTNINGAR LIFE'S LITTLE PLEASURES

FOR THE PAST two years, author and podcaster Sigge Eklund has lived with his family in Los Angeles. Living in such close proximity to nature and the ocean has sharpened his outlook on life and led him to write a book about how he learned to live in the present.

IN LIFE'S LITTLE PLEASURES he is meandering about in everyday moments, pausing and allowing himself to be seduced by scents and flavours, the unexpected meetings and moments of clarity. Even if today's world can seem complicated, we can all allow ourselves to feel what he calls low-intensity happiness.

THE BOOK IS a celebration of all the small moments that can easily pass us by if we do not learn to savour them. Like taking a nap with your dog, or riding your bike down a country lane, and eating the perfect plate of spaghetti vongole.

SUGGESTIVE, SHARP AND with a strong presence, Sigge Eklund invites us into his everyday life and encourages us to pause and rediscover the small moments of joy that our lives are filled with.

CARINA BERGFELDT

CARINA BERGFELDT IS an award winning Swedish journalist who spent four years as the US correspondent at Sweden's national television, SVT. Before that, she worked for a decade as a world reporter at Sweden's biggest daily, Aftonbladet, where her series from Texas death row, Seven Days To Live is one of the paper's biggest successes to date. During the week of its release in 2013, the series about death row was read by 2.2 million Swedes, a quarter of the population.

SHE STARTED WORKING for Swedish Television in 2016 and after her first year on television she was nominated for a "Kristallen" award as TV-personality of the year, the first journalist ever to receive a nomination in the category.

TRE DAGAR MED KU KLUX KLAN THREE DAYS WITH THE KU KLUX KLAN

FOLLOW CARINA BERGFELDT to the most racist town in the US: Harrison, Arkansas. Over 99% of the population is white, the Confederate flag sways from cars and shops. There are posters warning of "White Genocide" all along the highway. A shaky car ride into the woods leads us to the place where the Ku Klux Klan have their yearly gathering.

IN THE COURTYARD, where the Klan leader welcomes everyone, children are running around playing in t-shirts with the Klan's red, black and white symbol on. Family is the focal point and women are becoming a larger part of the membership. During the three day long yearly meeting new "knights" are voted in and the importance to keep and defend the white race is repeated again and again.

BERGFELDT'S HONEST AND insightful prose invites you to join her whilst she experiences three unimaginable days with the KKK. Interwoven is the motley history of the Klan. A defected member gives his view on its well thought-out recruitment methods. The three days end with a cross-burning, a tradition that has frightened people for more than a hundred years.

SJU DAGAR KVAR ATT LEVA SEVEN DAYS TO LIVE

THE CLOCK IS TICKING

WHEN CARINA BERGFELDT meets the convicted double murderer, one week remains of his life. In seven days he will be strapped to a gurney and injected with lethal poison. He is sentenced to die in Texas, the state that executes more prisoners than any other in the US. For ten years, nine months and ten days Vaughn Ross has been on death row, waiting to atone for the crime he was convicted of in 2002.

THE CONVERSATION BETWEEN the Swedish journalist and the American killer is the start of a week in Texas that involves a chaplain who has heard the last confessions of 150 killers, a warden who has escorted 88 men and one woman into a death chamber – none of which came out of the room alive – a woman who loves a murderer, a family that wants revenge and a cop whose sworn promise will be fulfilled only once the deadly dose flows into Vaughn Ross' body.

BUT IT ALL starts right here, on death row, with the man who has Seven Days to Live.

» "Carina Bergfeldt manages to portray how the consequences of the death penalty affects the lives of many more than just those who are touched by the extreme consequence. Despite the fact that the subject is life and death and an eye for an eye the characters are nuanced, making you care for them. It is a very heartbreaking book."

DAGENS NYHETER

» "Through the eyes and words of Swedish journalist Carina Bergfeldt I have met a person, not particularly good or innocent, nor particularly evil. The accomplishment of her very detailed and leisurely story-telling technique is that I – when the poison is injected into the young American's veins – no longer am interested in the question of guilt. That may be as it is. Vaughn Ross was a person."

AFTONBLADET

» "The book is fascinating and a linguistically well made rendering of the constantly debated Death Penalty. It grabs a hold of the reader, arouses curiosity and it's difficult to let go before the very last page"

SKARABORGS ALLEHANDA

» "This is without a doubt one of the books that has made the biggest impression on me, ever. This is an incredibly well written, strong and courageous story, that is moving and engaging. Carina Bergfeldt is a brilliant storyteller, and the journey she has made is admirable. I am impressed by her skillful technique, passion for human lives and will to let several voices be heard in a matter that often arouses powerful emotions. The book is skillfully composed, rich on facts but suspenseful like a crime novel. I recommend that everyone read it."

LITTERATURMAGAZINET

» "Deftly told, with the light touch of the evening newspaper journalist and with a feeling for expositive details, we get to meet the people affected by the Death Penalty. The police, the bereaved, the mother whose daughter is murdered, the Warden, the chaplain and the journalist who has covered 374 executions. You cannot guard against it and nothing is black and white anymore after the last page."

TARA

» "Bergfeldt, as a storyteller, manages to portray the personal anguish, the hate, the hope. It is often moving and macabre at the same time"

GELLERT TAMAS

JOURNALIST GELLERT TAMAS is most famous for his bestselling book; Lasermannen – en berättelse om Sverige (The Laser Man – A Story About Sweden), published in 2002. The book analyses and discusses the case of the second-generation immigrant, John Ausonius. In 1991/92 he shot several people of foreign descent in Stockholm, using a rifle equipped with a laser sight, thereby earning the nickname, the Laser Man, for himself. The book was also adapted into a TV mini-series for SVT (Swedish Television) in 2005, and was later given the Kristallen Award. With more than 200 000 copies sold, The Laserman is one of the most widely read journalistic books in Swedish history.

IN 2018 HE was awarded Torgny Segerstedt's frihetspenna for “writing about Swedish contemporary history pointing to racism and abuse of power” and “describing the driving forces behind xenophobic movements” in his books Lasermannen, De apatiska and Det svenska hatet.

TODAY GELLERT TAMAS is one of the most prominent journalists and authors in Sweden. He writes for the leading daily newspaper Dagens Nyheter and one of the major TV channels TV4. His latest book, The Definite Battle, was published in June 2022 and examines the evolution of the Swedish political party Sverigedemokraterna (The Sweden Democrats) during the past thirty years.

DEN AVGÖRANDE STRIDEN THE DEFINITE BATTLE

THREE DECADES IN THE WORLD OF SVERIGEDEMOKRATERNA (THE SWEDEN DEMOCRATS).

IT HAS NOW been more than 30 years since the inception of Sverigedemokraterna. The party is the youngest in the Swedish parliament, but its roots go far deeper. They were formed from the xenophobic Bevara Sverige Svenskt (BSS) (“Keep Sweden Swedish”), however they have both personal and ideological ties to the Swedish fascist and nazi parties from the time between the two world wars.

THE ROOTS OF Sverigedemokraterna are constantly timely, as well as strangely invisible. Today's debate revolves more around the cooperation with Sweden's other conservative parties; Moderaterna and Kristdemokraterna, than about the party's past or its recent praise for current leaders such as Donald Trump and Hungary's Viktor Orbán.

WELL RENOWNED JOURNALIST Gellert Tamas has followed Sverigedemokraterna from the start in 1988; he was already following them when Sieg Heiling skinheads saluted King Karl XII. He has now gone back through thirty years of notes, articles, debates, statements and party declarations. One question keeps coming back: who is it that has changed? Sverigedemokraterna or everyone else? The party is nearing their main goal. In this fall's election Sverigedemokraterna can gain direct impact on the governing of Sweden.

WE ARE FACING the definite fight for our civilization's, culture's and nation's survival - according to Mattias Karlsson, chief ideologist for Sverigedemokraterna. It is of great importance, insists Gellert Tamas, to listen to what he and other leading members are actually saying.

ENGSTRÖM & RICHERT

MARGIT RICHERT IS an author and journalist and Thomas Engström is an author and translator. In the summer of 2015 they got married and shortly thereafter they left Sweden for a trip that ended up lasting for three years. They visited Ukraine, Georgia, Armenia, Turkey, Mexico, the Netherlands and the Shetland Islands before returning to a cottage by the lake Tiveden in northern Sweden, in the late fall of 2018. Their experiences have brought them closer and have had a deep impact on their view on society and outlook on life. Together they have also written the first two parts in the acclaimed dystopian Nordmark series.

INTO UKRAINE IS a unique document of time, written and published in real time in a way that books seldom are. In a similar way as when Stig Dagerman depicted a bomb torn Germany after the war, Thomas and Margit show a vulnerable Ukraine fighting for their survival.

IN I UKRAINA INTO UKRAINE

"WE SOON REALIZED that we did not have a choice. We have to move to Ukraine and see the war with our own eyes - and participate in it, actually, in all the ways a couple of authors can. So we got rid of our possessions on Öland, packed up the car and drove off. Point of no return. This is not an objective report, this is our diary. From a war we chose to go to, from a fight of survival for our entire civilization. Seriously, what else would we write about?"

Thomas Engström and Margit Richert

WHEN THE WAR erupts in Ukraine the whole security of Europe changes. Sweden wants to join NATO, global sanctions are established, there is talk about a potential energy crisis. All the while bombs are falling in our immediate vicinity. Most clench the fists in their pockets, scream out war cries and heap sympathies for a war torn Ukraine while also demanding powerful decisions from the leaders of the world.

INSTEAD, TWO OF our most known writers and debaters get into their car and drive to the center of the events to see with their own eyes what is happening. To write it down, to try and understand and to give a deeper analysis. The scenes are horrific, but they are also images of strength and courage, of love and care and people and their fates.

WINNER OF THE 2021
NORDIC COUNCIL
CHILDREN AND YOUNG PEOPLE'S LITERATURE
PRIZE

"This year's winner has impressed the adjudication committee with a searingly relevant topic. Thanks to their fictional narrative, the winner gives the feeling of a documentary and skilfully builds up the image of a reality where no one is evil or good. The depiction of the people who the reader meets is never black and white or simplified. This year's winner describes with a sensual eye for detail the existence that the protagonist encounters in refugee accommodation, which creates a strong sense of identification with the characters of the book and makes it impossible to turn a blind eye to a situation where everyone is a powerless prisoner and, to some extent, a loser. The story offers no explanations, no solutions, and no conclusions, but grows into a furious accusation that extends far beyond the covers of the book, against a system that shatters those made of glass."

DE AFGANSKA SÖNERNA

IN HER DEBUT novel Elin Persson openly portrays three young lives with both dignity and compassion. And the reader's heart is fit to bursting.

REBECCA HAS JUST started working at the residential care home for children and young persons. She has done the introductory class and follows all the rules in the book. People tell her to leave her work at work, and not get too emotionally involved. But sometimes when it gets to be too much she escapes down into the basement corridor by the refuse room. She sits there for a while, poking at the coarse concrete wall until a small pile of grey crumble forms on the floor.

EVERY DAY SHE meets Ahmed who moves his hips in a quick dance, Hamid who keeps his letter from the Swedish Migration Agency on his bedside table and Zaher, the latest person to join the home, who moves quietly down the corridors on his glittery sandals. They are sons of Afghanistan, and Rebecka is their closest ally.

» "Elin Persson's debut novel is a stylistically blistering commentary [...] it's as effective as it's moving, with a lingering linguistic brilliance."

» "Sharp debut/.../The Afghan Sons is Persson's debut, and it's an impressive one."

DAGENS NYHETER

» "The tone, the subject, and the characters are set from the first page. /.../ Elin Persson simply trusts that greatness lies in simplicity [...] It shows everything I didn't know about a story I thought I already knew. Not just a successful debut, but a really successful novel. Irresistible."

CAMILLA STEN

"The last part in the Järvhöga trilogy is extremely thrilling and somewhat unpleasant. It provides a very satisfying resolution to the story. [...] If nature mysticism, tradition-laden and exclusive school environments and evil sudden death are things you enjoy, the books about Järvhöga are the perfect summer reading for you!"

JÖNKÖPINGS POSTEN

CAMILLA STEN

CAMILLA STEN DEBUTED in 2016 with her political thriller A New Dawn. A self-proclaimed feminist from a very young age, Camilla has been writing stories since she was a child. She is a master of horror and suspense for both adults and young people and her international breakthrough came with The Lost Village. An eerie psychological suspense novel which has become hugely popular in the United States as well as around Europe – the rights have been sold to 19 territories, including film and television.

TOGETHER WITH HER crime-writing superstar mother Viveca Sten, Camilla has also created the bone-chillingly suspenseful middle grade series Pledglings. A clever tween adventure that has sold more than 110 000 copies in Sweden.

THE MISSING IS the first book in her dark and atmospheric YA series about the The Järvhöga Academy, which is widely loved by both readers and critics in Sweden. It was followed by The Haunted in 2021 and the last and final book in the series, The Forsaken, was published in June 2022 and immediately found its way to the Swedish bestseller list.

"With excitement and commitment, the author brings the reader into the world of mysticism and how this affects the characters. The strength of the story lies in the depiction of the character's feelings and thoughts and how the forest shapes their actions. [...] In summary, a nerve-wracking ending to the trilogy that retains the spirit of previous books and entices you to read the whole book at once. Rating: 4"

GRADUATION IS RAPIDLY approaching for Julia and Astrid, but for Julia it feels like freedom is still far out of her reach. How is she supposed to leave Järvhöga after everything that has happened? When she knows that the thing lurking in the woods isn't just still out there, but actually growing stronger every day?

EMIL'S LIFE SEEMS messier than ever. Markus isn't getting any better, but rather seems to be slipping further and further away, into something else. News of Järvhöga Academy's new owner worries him. Who is the mysterious Oscar von Graaf and what ties does he have to the old boarding school?

FOREST FIRES ARE plaguing Järvhöga and the flames are closing in. Will Emil and Julia manage to rescue their friends and the town before time runs out?

THE FORSAKEN IS the third and final part in the Järvhöga trilogy, where fraught suspense is seamlessly blended with magical realism.

MATS SÖDERLUND

MATS SÖDERLUND MADE his debut as a poet in 1992 and was awarded The Swedish Writers' Union's prestigious Catapult Award for best literary debut.

HE HAS WON numerous literary awards and scholarships as a poet and is regarded as one of the most headstrong nature poets in Sweden. Söderlund often describes himself as “a forester from the north” with roots deeply entrenched in the Nordic folklore and the Northern narrative tradition where not everything can be explained.

“A successful combination of climate politics, teenage anxiety and magic [...] To dip the toes in Söderlund's universe is inspiring in itself... The Threat is something so improbable as a [...] pulse increasing read about climate politics, without a moral lecture.”

GÖTEBORGS-POSTEN

“The Threat must be the most thorough and ambitious construction of a YA novel I've read in a very long time [...] Söderlund really succeeds in the art of tying all the knots together, the smallest ones with the unbelievable big ones.”

Although Jenny is taken captive she manages to escape, but her father vanishes without a trace. Several years later Jenny and her siblings find out what really happened on the mountain and who the strangers really were. But that is just the beginning...

THE THREAT IS the first part in a trilogy set in an imminent future where climate disasters have become part of everyday life and where the lack of water leads to war. Sweden and Finland are the new, water-owning superpowers and migrant workers from mainland Europe travel to the north. The digital flux is constantly present and every little action or event is registered and logged. Yet there is an ancient secret hidden among all of this: a secret that may threaten the entire human race...

THE DESCENDANTS IS a modern crossover series in three parts about our responsibility for the environment, democracy, human rights and not least about sibling relationships, grief, friendship, love and co-operation. All three books in the series were praised by both critics and readers when they were published.

DJUPGRAVEN CHILD OF THE SKERRIES

I can't help throwing a desperate look over my shoulder when I see something following the boat. A pale whisper in the water, a cold stream under the surface, travelling much faster than me.

It will not let me get away...

EVEN THOUGH twelve-year-old Tuva doesn't have a lot in common with her classmates and keeps to herself most of the time, she has always felt at home in the archipelago and on the island of Harö where she lives. She knows all the small islands and every skerry like the back of her hand. This particular autumn though, something has changed. People disappear without a trace in the sea, dark shadows undulate beneath the waves and supernatural creatures can be spotted in the trees.

CHILD OF THE SKERRIES is the first part of Camilla and Viveca Sten's thriller series for tween readers. Supernatural elements from Norse mythology meet old sailor superstitions, as main protagonist Tuva battles dark forces. Her story is a poignant tale of what it's like to grow up on an island in the archipelago, when the summer guests have left and the fog lies thick over the ocean.
